WINTER IS THE WORST!

AUTHOR & ILLUSTRATOR: DAN TAVIS
PAGE COUNT: 32
TRIM: 9" x 9"
AGE RANGE: 4–8

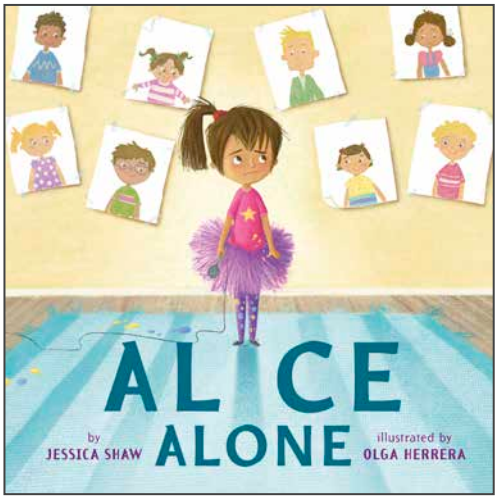

Bear loves winter. Penguin does not. Penguin hates bulky layers, stubborn snow, sneaky ice, and especially spontaneous snowball fights! But maybe there's more to winter than just the weather, especially when it involves outdoor activities with friends.

New York Times bestselling illustrator Dan Tavis captures the joys and frustrations of a cold, snowy winter with his signature humor. Originally published in German, this delightful picture book is relatable for anyone who's lived through a long northern winter season. Perfect for family reading time and sharing between generations.

ALICE ALONE

AUTHOR: JESSICA SHAW
ILLUSTRATOR: OLGA HERRERA
PAGE COUNT: 32
TRIM: 9" x 9"
AGE RANGE: 4–8

Alice has a BIG family. She has four older brothers and four younger sisters, which puts Alice smack-dab, kerplunk, right in the middle. And sometimes, this middle child just wants to be alone! One day, Alice sneaks away from a family gathering. She loves skipping, singing, and twirling on her own—until she realizes she's lost and feeling an itsy, bitsy, teensy, tiny bit . . . lonely. Hurriedly retracing her steps to the arms of her mushy, marvelous family, she learns that maybe being in the middle isn't so bad after all.

The apples are ripe! Which animal will be first to know? Or second? Or third? And how will they communicate it to their families? Inspire young readers to notice the arrival of fall with ordinal numbers in this cheerfully illustrated picture book.

"A heartwarming story of family resilience . . . "

— School Library Journal review of Unicycle Dad
