WHY ALCOHOL INK MARKERS?

Alcohol-based inks lay down vibrant, smooth areas of color. Blend them to create beautiful shading and subtle watercolor effects. Unlike water-based markers, they won't damage the surface of your paper. They'll write on nearly anything and are made to last. They're ideal tools for artists and crafters of every stripe and any experience level.

Please note that these high-saturation markers may bleed through certain types of paper. We recommend protecting surfaces below by placing an extra sheet of thick paper beneath your work.

Let's Tangle! The Art of Zentangle®

By Kathleen Murray, CZT

The popular Zentangle art form is a fun and easy approach to creativity that is as involving as it is relaxing. All you need is a pencil, pen, and paper, or paper tiles. Get started with Let's Tangle! The Art of Zentangle®. This easy-to-follow introduction by a Certified Zentangle Teacher, with gorgeous art contributions by dozens of other CZTs, will take you step-by-step through this elegant art form.

Author and CZT Kathleen Murray, after many years in international business, decided to go back to her creative roots. She earned an MFA, studied Chinese calligraphy, and created a small art company. In 2010, she decided to become certified as a teacher in the Zentangle art form. Today, Kathleen teaches the Zentangle Method, Chinese calligraphy, and the arts of making books and creating found-object jewelry. She lives in Connecticut and in France.

Mother and Son: Our Back and Forth Journal

By Paula Spencer Scott

This interactive journal is designed to turn small bits of writing time into a fun way for mother and son to find out about each other. Through its activities and prompts, learn about one another's views, interests, and more. It's a creative way to spend screen-free time together. Can become a fun keepsake of this moment in time, and might start a lifelong habit of writing.

This Cowgirl Ain't Kiddin' About the Potty

By Sarah Glenn Fortson • Illustrated by Russ Cox

Cowgirl A.K. saunters around in her two-quart diaper insisting that she “ain’t kiddin’” when she says she’s got “no time for the potty.” Until one day when she meets her idol Wild Wilma Wilkee—a real cowgirl—and realizes that Wilma doesn’t wear any diapers at all. She wears underpants! Fired up by her new-found determination, A.K. eyes “that big white stallion” and learns how to ditch her diapers for good. Yee haw!

Sarah Glenn Fortson originally hails from Columbus, Georgia. After her fences were varnished, horses were harnessed, and spurs were tarnished, she studied journalism at the University of Georgia and went on to become a teacher. Upon retiring from being a life-long educator, she knew just what to do—it was writin’ time. She currently lives in Chicago, where on any given day you may find her writing, painting, conducting story times, hiking, or planning her next trip to Denali. Learn more about Sarah at sarahglennfortson.com.

Russ Cox, a Tennessee native, grew up on cartoons and old monster movies—idolizing cartoonists like Chuck Jones and Tex Avery. He never got either of their autographs (like Cowgirl A.K. gets of her heroine), but he did follow in their footsteps and studied illustration and graphic design, later opening his own illustration studio. He currently lives in Maine with his wife, and when he’s not illustrating, he’s most likely playing the banjo, dancing, or teaching his cats how to yodel (sometimes all at the same time). Oh, and he’d like a goat if you have an extra one. Learn more about Russ at smilingotis.com.

Lost and Found

By JiWon Beck

Two strangers from different worlds meet unexpectedly and a special friendship is formed. Their mutual acts of kindness may be without words, but they speak in volumes.

In the snowy Alaskan landscape, a young indigenous girl crosses paths with a weak and hungry polar bear. But rather than retreating in fear, she chooses to approach the bear with tenderness by giving him all that she has to offer—a blanket and fish from her morning excursion. And although the girl's blanket is too small—the gesture is large. After feeling nourished and refreshed, the two new friends head out to play and frolic in the snow. When a snowstorm hits, the bear has a chance to return the girl's kindness and safely shepherds her home. Before each reunites with their parent they share one last embrace—creating a lifelong memory of their unique bond born of mutual respect and open hearts.

JiWon Beck lives with her husband and son in Korea.

Happiness

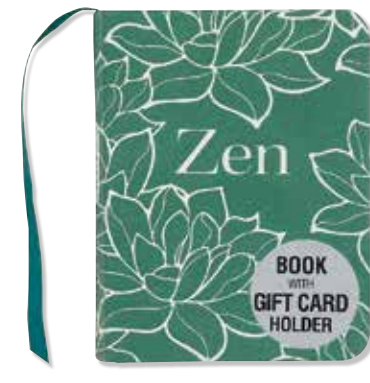

Gilded gold page edges

Filled with inspiring quotations, this uplifting little book is not about the pursuit of happiness—a process that keeps happiness in the future, apart from us. It is about how to be happiness.

Zen

Gilded silver page edges

"Smile, breathe, and go slowly."
—Thich Nhat Hanh.
In this mercurial world, it may be difficult to achieve mindfulness and far too easy to lose one's sense of self. Let this little tea-table tribute calm, inspire, and provide a bit of zenspiration.

PETER PAUPER PRESS

OUR COMPANY

In 1928, at the age of twenty-two, Peter Beilenson began printing books on a small press in the basement of his parents' home in Larchmont, New York. Peter—and later, his wife, Edna—sought to create fine books that sold at “prices even a pauper could afford.”

Today, still family owned and operated, Peter Pauper Press continues to honor our founders' legacy—and our customers' expectations—of beauty, quality, and value.
