FAMILIUS

Welcome to the FAMILY

Dear Familius Family,

I recently asked a number of friends and neighbors (most of whom were at least twenty years older than I am) to each share one important lesson they've learned in their long life. The answers were varied and wise, but the most poignant insight came from a former nurse:

She said, "Be kind and always say nice things about other people."

What would the world look like if for just one day everyone followed that advice? For twenty four hours, the following would disappear:

- Conflict and aggression
- Bullying and harassment
- Stress and anxiety
- Discrimination and prejudice
- Negative media and gossip
- Self-criticism and negative self-talk
- Tensions in international relations
- Environmental neglect

Can you imagine such a world? No war. No hate. No polarization . . . It's worth trying.

This spring, Familius is publishing a number of wonderful books, videos, and articles to help your family be happy. One book in particular is called Kindness Rocks by the founder of the Kindness Rocks Project. Our challenge to you, our Familius family, is to be kind and only say kind things about other people. Try it for one hour, then one day, then one week, then one month, then one year. The Dalai Lama once said, "Be kind whenever possible. It is always possible."

We are confident that this simple but important challenge will make the world a better place. Why? Because kindness rocks!

Chelsea Tornetto

is a former world geography teacher, who has loved writing ever since she was a kid. Her first book, Conquering Content Vocabulary, was published by Scholastic in 2018, but now her passion is picture books. She is the award-winning author of Gardens Are For Growing (Familius 2022) and God Made You Too (WorthyKids 2022), with more titles on the way.

Laurel Alyesworth

As an introverted kid growing up in Vermont, drawing came naturally to Laurel Aylesworth. Instead of going to the mall like most teenagers, you would find her in her room drawing scenes from Lord of the Rings or copying her favorite characters from Elf Quest comics. Later, her career path naturally led to graphic design, but something was missing (namely, Elves and magic). She found her calling as an illustrator after becoming a mother and hence, wading knee-deep in picture books from the library.

- Perfectly paired with sidewalk chalk, Chalk the Walk isn't just a book—it's an interactive experience waiting to happen! Bundle it with chalk for an instant invitation to dive into the colorful world of the story right in your own driveway.
- Tired of screen time? Dive into Chalk the Walk and discover the joy of outdoor play! This book encourages kids to step outside, get active, and unleash their artistic flair on the sidewalks, fostering a love for creativity in the fresh air.
- Dive into a world where sidewalk chalk isn't just a tool for drawing—it's a catalyst for neighborhood art projects! Join a diverse cast of characters as they come together to create magic on the pavement, showcasing the power of collaboration and imagination.

Laura W. Carter

is a native of Oxford, Alabama. After earning a Bachelor of History in 2008 and a Master of Education in 2009 from the University of Montevallo, she and her husband moved to Huntsville, where they both began their careers as teachers. She has taught history at the high school level since 2013 and is also certified to teach English and language arts. The Elect and Restoration were her first published books, and they were released from a small press beginning in 2013. Since then, she has expanded her writing into all realms of kidlit with a particular fondness toward writing picture books that her son would enjoy. Laura's adult life has been and continues to be dedicated to working with youth and encouraging them to love stories, history, and learning.

Anna Doherty

is an illustrator/author from Edinburgh, based in Cambridge. Since graduating from the Children's Book Illustration MA at Cambridge School of Art. Anna has illustrated several picture books, most recently Lots of Dots and Human Town. She is the creator of Fantastically Feminist, a mini-series of biographical books and enjoys working on board books and non-fiction titles. Anna loves mustard yellow, popcorn, and dogs.

- Perfect for career day celebrations in elementary schools, What Will I Be, From A to Z encourages curiosity, exploration, and a love for learning in children..
- Unlike other STEAM-introductory books, this title provides a broad overview of occupations, offering a fresh take on familiar concepts for young minds.
- Author is a STEAM magnet school teacher who has seen many of her young students go on to careers in the fields explored in the book. Ideal for elementary educators and homeschool parents, this book seamlessly integrates into classroom activities as an introduction to the alphabet, diverse careers, or both.

In Our Solar System

In our solar system,
On the fiery hot sun
Burned a mother solar flare
And her little flare, one.
"Sizzle," said the mother.
"I sizzle," said the one.
So they sizzled and they popped
On the fiery, hot sun.

Based on the poem "Over in the Meadow," this galactic counting book guides readers from the sun all the way to the far reaches of our solar system with adorably anthropomorphized planets by illustrator Susanna Covelli. Parents or older readers will love the added fun facts on each page for even more information about the different celestial bodies, their moons, and their orbits. Ages 5–7 has been watching the sky since her dad built an observatory in the backyard when she was a child. She feels pretty lucky to live on the incredibly diverse planet Earth, alongside creatures as small as a single cell and as large as a blue whale, and hopes you do, too.

Jenny Sundstedt

Susanna Covelli

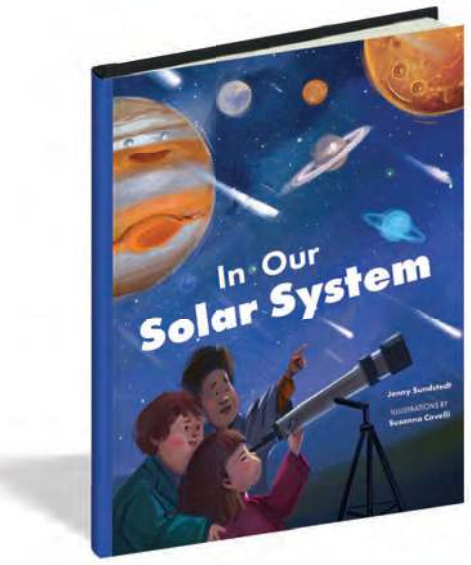

was born in a small town in Piedmont, Italy, earned an MA in architecture, and followed her passion for art and decided to attend a specialization course in both traditional and digital illustration at Scuola Internazionale di Comics in Turin. Her art expresses her own imagination and inspiration from nature, and she has always been attracted by sinuous shapes, baroque style, and out–of–the–ordinary perspectives.

- Perfect for elementary-aged kids and families interested in space, this book fosters curiosity about astronomy and the wonders of our solar system with educational backmatter for further learning.
- Emphasizes the unique features of each planet, their relationship to our planet, and the relationship between the solar system. Through anthropomorphizing the sun and planets, the book creates a fun sense of connection between young readers and celestial bodies.

In our solar system,
On a planet speeding through,
Lay a deep father crater
And his little craters, two.
"Yawn," said the father.
"We yawn," said the two.
So they yawned big and wide
On a planet speeding through.
Because Mercury zips around the sun in only 88 days, the Romans named it after the god of messages, who had wings on his feet. But even though it orbits quickly, it spins much slower. That means a single day on Mercury lasts for about two years there (equal to 176 days on Earth). The planet's rocky surface is covered with craters named after famous and often familiar people from all over the world, including Maya Angelou, William Shakespeare, Madeleine L'Engle, and Dr. Seuss.

In our solar system,
Far away in the heavens,
Stretched a sparkling father ring
And his little rings, seven.
"Circle," said the father.
"We circle," said the seven.
So they circled loop-de-loops
Far away in the heavens.
Four planets in our solar system have rings around their middles, but Saturn's are the largest and most recognizable. Chunks of floating ice reflect the sunlight and make the brilliant rings easy to see with a telescope. Some of the ice pieces are as small as a speck of dust, and some are as big as mountains. The rings are held in place by the gravitational pull of Saturn and four "shepherd" moons, which keep the particles from escaping into space.

WRITTEN KRISTIE GRAVES
ILLUSTRATIONS BY GREGORIO DE LAURETIS

On the night before you turn one
I'll rock you in our chair
And smell the last of the baby smell
That tiptoes through your hair.

On the night before her infant's first birthday, a mother reflects on the beautiful journey they've had together from birth, soaking in one last night of her baby as a baby. Most parents can relate to the sense of loss as our children grow and simultaneous pride in their growth and excitement for the future. She dreams of the wonderful milestones to come while acknowledging that time seems to be moving too fast. With sweet illustrations by Gregorio De Lauretis of the bestselling Made for Me, and rhyming text from Kristie Graves, this picture book is the perfect gift for a child's first birthday—even if the one who really needs it is the parent!. Ages 3–5

ISBN-13: 978-1-64170-582-0

- Celebrate that special milestone with a gift that resonates with every parent. On The Night Before You Turn One is the perfect keepsake for children turning one, offering a blend of sweet sentimentality and anticipation for the adventures ahead.
- Dive into a story that mirrors the universal emotions of parenthood. Whether it's the bittersweet realization of how fast time flies or the excitement of future milestones, this book speaks to the hearts of all caregivers.
- This touching picture book captures the poignant moments of the first year of parenthood. Through a heartfelt poem, the author beautifully reflects on the journey from birth to the first birthday, evoking nostalgia and pride.

Kristie Graves

lives in Alberta with her husband and three small children. She is a bedtime story reader extraordinaire and can be found rocking and reading her littles to sleep long into the night because she can't ever say no to one-more-story-please. Her favorite thing in the world is being a mother, and her least favorite is how fast it all goes. This is her first children's book.

Gregorio de Lauretis studied at the Academy of Art in Florence and graduated in Teramo. Since then he has studied graphic design and web design at Nemo NT Academy of Digital Arts where he awarded a scholarship from the famous character designer Stephen Silver. Gregory works digitally but begins with drawing with ink on paper. He then scans the work on his computer where he exalts the piece with his colors and finishing touches. He currently works as a freelance illustrator based in Florence, where he lives. "Imagination is my world. Illustration is my language"

On the night before you turn one,
I'll tuck you into your bed.

And remember a couple of months ago
When you'd sleep in my arms instead.

On the night before you turn one,
There's a lot to look forward to.

So many firsts as you learn to move
And explore a world that's new.

On the night before you turn one,
I'll want this moment to last.

It seems all of the clocks in all of the towns
Are spinning a little too fast.

From the moment they push out of the cell where they grew as larvae, they have a job to do. In fact, they have all the jobs to do.

Each bee starts as an egg, smaller than a grain of rice. After about 3 days they hatch into a fast-growing grub called a larvae. The larva becomes a pupa and then finishes their metamorphosis, emerging as an adult bee.

Each bee, newly free dries off and eats their fill. Now it is time for work. First as janitors, cleaning the cells of the nursery.

Female bees have to work their way out of their cell all alone, though workers help the male drones escape their cell and feed them.

Newly hatched worker bees clean the cells and surrounding area, so it is ready for the next egg.

Then they are nannies, caring for the larvae.

Caring for hundreds of eggs and larvae takes a lot of work. These nurses feed the larva royal jelly for about three days before switching them to a diet of pollen mixed with honey, sometimes called bee bread.

Tyler Hilton

With his raspy, soulful voice, his lyrics and laid-back, catchy melodies, Hilton's debut album "The Tracks of..." saw songs make the Billboard Top 40 charts and lead to collaborations with Taylor Swift (appearing in her video for "Teardrops on My Guitar"), Lady Antebellum, Billy Ray Cyrus, and Joe Cocker among others. But it was his turn as 'Elvis Presley' in the Oscar-winning Johnny Cash biopic Walk the Line and subsequent Grammy-winning soundtrack that launched a surprising acting career leading to multiple film and TV projects alongside the likes of Robert Downey Jr. and Halle Berry. Most memorable perhaps, was his role as musician "Chris Keller" on the CWs One Tree Hill that led to a rabid international fan base and appearances on "The Tonight Show", MTVs "TRL", and a feature in People's Magazine "50 Most Beautiful People". Hilton currently resides in California and Ontario, Canada with his wife, actress Megan Park, and their daughter Winnie.

Motherhood is a constant barrage of choices. Bottle or breast? Alone time or playtime? And how much is too much screentime? No matter the choice we make, mothers often end up feeling guilty, as if we are never doing enough. But no more! In this choose-your-own-adventure-style guide, packed with 18 coping mechanisms, social worker Rebecca Fox Starr guides moms through the apocalyptic newborn phase, the jungle of toddlerhood, and the dead ends and booby traps of raising teens with one simple message: You are doing a great job. You are more than enough. The perfect gift for mothers who are doing their best every day, Am I Doing This Right? is the comforting affirmation we need to show ourselves some compassion and appreciate the choices we make each day for the families we love.

A Parent's Guide to Starting Psychiatric Medications for Kids

ALEX KOLEVZON, MD, ROBBIE JAFFE, MD,
AND PILAR TRELLES, MD

For parents and caregivers, considering psychiatric medications for your child can be scary and overwhelming as they weigh the risks and benefits. A Parent's Guide to Starting Psychiatric Medications for Kids boils down the process of evaluating children and deciding whether to use medication, and then explores different classes of medications in detail, from the side effects to ongoing monitoring. Three child psychiatrists from New York's Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, Alexander Kolevzon, MD, Robert Jaffe, MD, and Pilar Trelles, MD, combine their years of research and experience to deliver a straightforward, accessible Q&A guidebook for parents and caregivers. Whether you are considering antipsychotics, mood stabilizers, or medications for ADHD, depression, or anxiety, this guide empowers you to ask your provider all the tough questions to ensure you feel comfortable and confident in your journey of exploring psychiatric medications for your child.

"PICK OUT A GOOD ONE AND SOCK IT!"

Babe hitting in New York's Polo Grounds, 1921. Babe Ruth is still MLB's all-time leader in slugging percentage (.690). A tally of his slugging percentage during seasons when he was not a pitcher is well over .700. Ted Williams has the second highest slugging average, with an SLG of .6338. Lou Gehrig is third, with an SLG of .6324.

Slugging percentage is one of the best evaluators of a hitter's power because it is a measure of batting productivity. It represents the total number of bases a player records per at-bat. Unlike batting average, slugging percentage gives extra weight to doubles, triples and home runs, relative to singles. The formula for slugging percentage is: SLG = (1B + 2x2B + 3x3B + 4xHR) / AB.

"Waiting for the pitch, there was a sense of a great coiled spring...and when he swung, BAM! BOOM! BOOM! BAM! There it went! ...it was so frightening they all ducked!" — Up up up up up... 150 feet as it passed first base and just floated...floated...floated and went forever."—"Babe Ruth" HBO Documentary, 1998.
"No one hit home runs the way Babe did. They were something special. They were like homing pigeons. The ball would leave the bat, pause briefly, suddenly gain its bearings, then take off for the stands."—Lefty Gomez.

"DON'T EVER FORGET TWO THINGS I'M GOING TO TELL YOU. ONE, DON'T BELIEVE EVERYTHING THAT'S WRITTEN ABOUT YOU. TWO, DON'T PICK UP TOO MANY CHECKS."

A production still from the silent movie Babe Comes Home starring Babe Ruth and Anna Q. Nilsson, directed by Ted Wilde (1927). Note the mouse trap stuck on his finger. Babe appeared in five feature-length movies and six "shorts," as well as instructional films and countless film clips.

The Babe's first motion picture, Headin' Home (1920) in which Babe played a character similar to himself, was filmed mostly at night on at Biograph Studios in Fort Lee, New Jersey. On Aug 22, 1920, action scenes were filmed at a ballfield made up to look like the Polo Grounds. A crowd of 2000 movie extras as "fans" were in the stands. While the cameras rolled, Babe Ruth's character (also called "Babe") used a bat he supposedly whittled out of a tree trunk to blast balls out of the park and into neighboring houses and yards. After filming that day, he raced back to the real Polo Grounds for a Yankees' game against the Detroit Tigers. During the "real" game, in 3 at bats, Babe didn't get any hits, but he did manage 2 BB; the Yankees lost 9-11.

"ALL THE BASE HITS IN THE WORLD ARE WASTED IF THE HITTER DOESN'T COMPLETE HIS JOURNEY AND CHECK IN AT THE HOME PLATE WITH A RUN."

"Give any ball club a second baseman and shortstop who can work together in perfect harmony with each knowing the other's style and methods and you've solved four-fifths of the infield troubles right there."
—George Herman Ruth, Babe Ruth's Own Book of Baseball.

The 8 Myths of Marriaging

Making Marriage a Verb and Replacing Myth with Truth

BY RICHARD AND LINDA EYRE

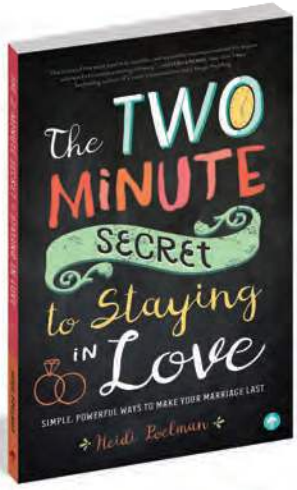

New York Times #1 bestselling authors of Teaching Your Children Values and relationship experts Richard and Linda Eyre explore the eight most common myths about marriage and the truth about how to have a successful and fulfilling marriage.

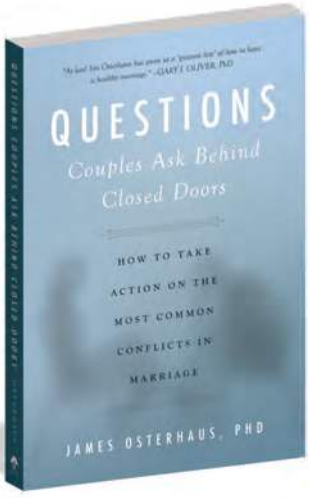

Exploring equality versus synergy, completion versus individual quest, harmony versus productive debate, a test drive versus constant commitment, and more, the Eyres show that popular opinions and behaviors toward successful marriages actually reduce the chance of marriage fulfillment.

Drawing on more than fifty years of marriage and hundreds of interviews across the world, The 8 Myths of Marriaging is a must-read book for anyone considering marriage or currently nurturing their marriage of many years.
