INHABIT
EDUCATION

B O O K S

Dear Reader,

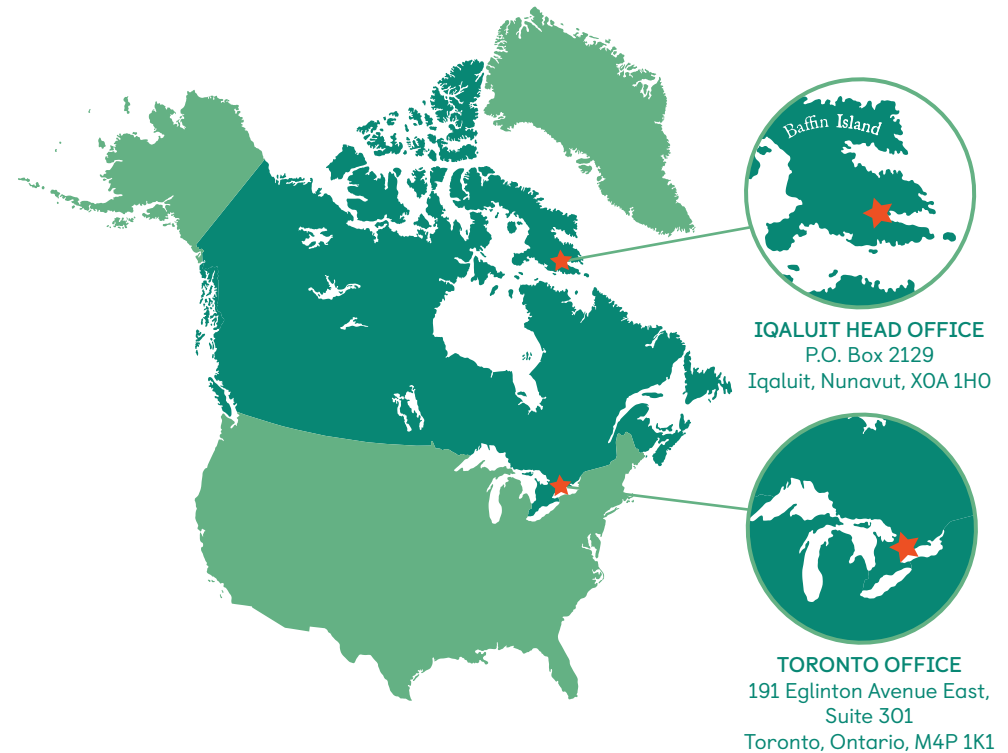

Welcome to the Inhabit Education Books fall 2019 catalogue. We're pleased to broaden our offerings this year to include new titles in our Arvaaq Books imprint, including bilingual board books in English and Inuktitut! We also have a range of new levelled readers in the Nunavummi reading series in a wide variety of fiction and non-fiction genres, offered in both English and Inuktitut.

Inhabit Education Books is a Nunavut-based educational publishing company with a mandate to provide educators and parents with educational resources that are infused with authentic Northern perspectives, ways of life, and imagery. Our publishing initiative always considers stories and information in an educational context. All of our publications are developed by a team of Northern educators and language experts. These titles incorporate concepts that students are familiar with—counting, animals, family, traditional stories, and so on—within a Northern context. Our books are designed to support students across Canada in their reading development while providing access to materials that reflect Canada's diversity of geography, culture, and traditions.

Wherever you are in Canada, we hope you enjoy sharing these stories of fun, adventure, history, and nature with your young readers!

All the best,
The Inhabit Education Books Team

Nunavummi Reading Series

Nunavummi Reading Series

The Nunavummi reading series is a unique Nunavut-made levelled reading series that aligns the reading expectations of Inuktitut (Inuktitut and Inuinnaqtun), English, and French. The reading series corresponds closely to the reading levels and expectations developed by the Department of Education in Nunavut. This approach to literacy provides educators and parents with the tools they need to ensure that children are equally challenged and successful in all the languages represented in Nunavut.

For southern educators, this series represents an opportunity to infuse their levelled reading programs with authentic Northern perspectives and knowledge. Canada is a country of cultural, geographic, and linguistic diversity, and the Nunavummi reading series helps educators create a literacy program that reflects this diversity.

The books in the Nunavummi reading series are for readers from Levels 1 (roughly early Kindergarten) to 16 (roughly late Grade 4). These levels build on the reader's skills as he or she moves progressively from simple sentences to complex short stories and non-fiction informational books. Note: grade ranges are provided merely as a guide and may not reflect the developmental stage of a given individual reader.

For a complete list of levels, please visit inhabiteducation.com/nunavummi-reading-series.

English titles in the Nunavummi reading series have been officially levelled by using the F&P Text Level Gradient™ Leveling System.

Neither Heinemann nor Fountas and Pinnell have produced this catalogue and they do not endorse/sponsor and are not otherwise affiliated with Inhabit Education and are not responsible for the catalogue.

Curriculum Connections

The Nunavummi reading series offers supportive materials for classroom units in a variety of subject disciplines. Many of our titles fit into the following broad curricular areas:

LANGUAGE AND LITERACY

All Nunavummi titles support students at a variety of reading levels. Books at the lower levels combine simple sentences with highly supportive illustrations, while books at higher levels include more complex sentences, less supportive illustrations, and new print concepts such as text boxes and glossaries. A combination of fiction and non-fiction texts ensures that children are exposed to a variety of reading materials and that all students can find a book that captures their interest.

DIVERSITY AND INDIGENOUS PERSPECTIVES

Most Nunavummi titles are written from an Arctic, and usually an Inuit, perspective. Texts such as Lighting the Qulliq (p. 23), Inuit Games (p. 32), and What Was It Like Then? (p. 34) expose children to Inuit traditions and ways of life. All text, illustrations, and photographs are carefully reviewed for cultural accuracy.

ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS, ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP, SUSTAINABILITY, AND LIFE SYSTEMS

Nunavummi titles can support a variety of science units on the environment, animals, and seasons. Readers will learn about the natural environment of the Arctic through non-fiction texts like Ulialq's Amazing Animals: Caribou (p. 32) and Arctic Animal Food Chains (p. 35). They will also learn about the traditional Inuit value of environmental stewardship.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Both fiction and non-fiction texts incorporate essential themes of community engagement, identity and self-image, and roles and responsibilities. Nanuq Learns to Share (p. 30), Being a Good Friend (p. 34), and The Blizzard (p. 36) teach children about roles and responsibilities and the value of helping others; TJ's New Friend (p. 37) connects to children's sense of identity and self-image; and Harry Okpik, Determined Musher (p. 36) provides children with an inspiring example of how to face adversity.

HISTORY AND HERITAGE

Many books in the Nunavummi reading series can be incorporated into units on Canadian and Indigenous history, heritage, culture, and traditional stories. Both fiction and non-fiction books in the series provide perspectives on life in the Arctic, past and present. Readers will discover what life was like in the old days in What Was It Like Then? (p. 34), about Inuit traditional stories in Inukpak and His Son (p. 33), and about traditional practices in Grandma, How Do You Light the Qulliq? (p. 30).
